

Major Offered Through:CORVALLIS*ECAMPUS

Lane Community College

BioHealth Sciences

The BioHealth Sciences major is designed for students seeking a degree with an interdisciplinary background in the life sciences, physical sciences, social sciences, and public health. This rigorous bachelor's program will deepen your understanding of human health, the origins of disease and the research for future cures. While the Corvallis campus coupled with an option contains most, if not all, of the prerequisites required by professional schools for admission, the online program is not intended for those who want to advance to a health-related professional school. Specialized pre-professional health school options within the program are not available to distance students because they require the completion of specific courses that are not currently offered online by Oregon State University. The program's advisors will work with you to ensure that your courses will help prepare for your future success.

BioHealth Science Options

(options available on Corvallis campus only)

- Pre-Clinical Laboratory Sciences
- Pre-Dentistry
- Pre-Medicine/Pre-Podiatry
- Pre-Optometry
- Pre-Pharmacy
- Pre-Physical Therapy
- Pre-Physician Assistant

Students interested in Nursing and/or Occupational Therapy should consult with an OSU advisor.
